Be a Christopher Columbus in September !

Tim Akano

On 3rd of August, 1492, Columbus left the comfortability, certainty and security of Spain with just 3 ships. He sailed perpendicularly into the unknown and the unexamined world, which later became the New World, the USA, the most powerful nation on earth.

Only you know and love yourself best, therefore, put on a bulletproof vest that can protect you from all the judgement of the CROWD- for crowd has no permanent opinions or permanent addresses.

Embrace your TRUTH squarely, leverage random opportunities and play to your strengths.

When you play to your strengths, you have ZERO COMPETITION, the only place to go is UP.

Stop being negative: negativity is like mosquito, it sucks the oxygen of creativity and enthusiasm from its victims.

A baby has to exit the safety of the womb where he is 100% protected from rain and sun -for him to grow and fulfill destiny. So, life is a gamble from day one.

There's no such thing as something from nothing: a seed has to go into the earth first before a tree germinates with more beautiful fruits.

If you wait or hesitate too long before launching into your New World, self doubt creeps in, enthusiasm declines, and cost rises. Aging is real and critical to success.

At old age, what people regret most is not the mistakes they made while trying, but rather the RISKS which they refused to take, for whatever reasons!

Whatever PRIZE you demand of life, life will willingly give you, provided you are prepared to pay the wholesale PRICE.

But make sure the PRIZE you desire is noble, and will not violate the laws of nature and the rights of fellow human beings.

Pursuing SUCCESS is desirable and good, but pursuing SIGNIFICANCE is much better. The former is about self and materialism while the latter is about making indelible mark on the sands of time and humanity.

Evening is coming with its concomitant characteristics: low energy, weak vision and less appetite for risks. Therefore, make hay while the sun shines. Tear the mask off- the masks of fear, doubt and low ambition. Why aiming for the stars when you can hit the SUN? Fortune and favor, befriend the bold

When People take life's inventory in the evening, it's either with gratitude or regret or sorrow! Gratitude, if the store is filled with finished goods. Regrets, if the store is still filled with raw materials, and sorrow when the store is totally empty!

Unfortunately, life has no second chance: Life's limo has no reverse gear, only throttle and brake pedals. Finish. So, keeping moving

Shortly, it's September 1st, and the last quarter of 2025 will quietly walk in.

It's a time for stocktaking. How many goals have you scored in 2025? How many shots did you take? How many of your shots entered the net and how many missed it. How many shots could you have taken but which you didn't take because of fear of what people will say?

Are you on the field as a first eleven, or second eleven or as a commentator or a CRITIC? Which Division are you playing with: first, second or third division? Are you aiming to play in the Championship Life League, someday?

Remember, FIFA has not yet created a Trophy for CRITICS! No such thing as CRITICS CHAMPIONS CUP(CCC)!

Enter your "Santa Maria" ship this September, learn something new, read new books (draw up a Summer Reading list), dream new dreams...

And like Christopher Columbus, sail perpendicularly - to your New World.

Everything is possible

Tim Akano timakano1@gmail.com